impACT in ACTION

Dear fellow AMCP Foundation donors,

I join you in supporting AMCP Foundation's mission: to strengthen managed care pharmacy by investing in future-focused research and inspiring the next generation to improve patient health. I am honored to assume the role of AMCP Foundation's 2023-25 President.

In this issue of Your Impact in Action, I share thoughts about our future direction. As we mark 30 years of AMCP Foundation internships and continue to innovate, I invite you to contact me (Annesha.White@unthsc.edu) with your feedback.

I bring strong strategic, analytical, and operational skills for success as your President, but I cannot lead alone. Diverse and inclusive perspectives make us a stronger organization. I am a servant and transformative leader who believes that listening is a key skill to be able to focus on how to better support the needs of students as well as managed care professionals. Don't hesitate to reach out with your ideas!

I look forward to working closely with the team and our Board of Trustees as we collectively build on the exemplary work that has already been accomplished.

With gratitude,

Annesha White, PharmD, MS, PhD

Senior Associate Dean for Assessment, Accreditation & Faculty Success, and Associate Professor, University of North Texas Health Science Center College of Pharmacy
President, AMCP Foundation

P.S. As a proud HBCU alumna (my PharmD and MS are from Florida A&M University), I am especially excited for our new HBCU Travel Awards Fund. Encourage your AMCP friends to donate. Companies can contribute, sponsor, or provide a grant, too!
